

Modeling of Soot Oxidation

Michael Frenklach

University of California at Berkeley, USA

In this presentation I will review the state of knowledge in the area of soot oxidation, summarize recent advances in the underlying detailed reaction mechanisms, demonstrate the role of quantum-chemical calculations of key reaction rates, report results on developing a new model form for reduced modeling of soot oxidation, and suggest reactions that need further quantum-chemical studies.